PERIOD OF SURVEY

The survey ran from Monday 3 April to Friday 30 June 2023, both as an online survey (using NI Direct/Citizen Space) and as a paper version.

The online and paper versions were offered at Board and PCSP events such as Balmoral Show (10-13 May), Millenium Forum - Derry/Londonderry (15 May), Ranfurley House - Dungannon (17 May), Rosspark Hotel - Kells (22 May) and The Mac Theatre - Belfast (24 May).

It was also issued to the Board's contact list including Consultees, Equality Contacts, PCSP's (who subsequently promoted it through their channels), Independent Custody Visitors, Independent Community Observers. In addition, the PSNI issued it to their community contacts within the Protestant, unionist, loyalist, Catholic, nationalist, republican, LGBTQIA+ and ethnic minority communities.

OVERVIEW

OUTCOME 3: WE HAVE ENGAGED AND SUPPORTIVE COMMUNITIES

Outcome 3 within the Policing Plan is about building the relationship between police and the community.

The Policing Board undertook this research on the experience of individuals in their community, working with the Police Service of Northern Ireland.

The survey aimed to assist in informing the Policing Plan, with specific regard to delivery of measure 3.1.3 (assess and evaluate the impact of partnership working with local communities).

The survey also added to the information gathered between January and March 2023 by the Board's Policing Plan Survey:

<https://www.nipolicingboard.org.uk/policing-plan-survey>

METHODOLOGY

The online survey captured the views of a sample of individuals and organisations. This management information report has not been published as official statistics as it is not a representative sample of the population, but it is intended to give some indication of general views for the Board's assessment of Outcome 3 of the Policing Plan.

KEY ISSUES

Respondents were asked to choose from a list of the key local issues they were involved in along with the PSNI. More than one option could be selected for this question.

The most frequently selected response was anti-social behaviour, 17% of all responses, followed by drugs (including use, addiction and dealing) with 14% of all responses. Violence against the person in terms of domestic abuse, sexual abuse/violence and violence against women and girls combined made up 16% of responses.

KEY ISSUES - OTHER

The question regarding key issues allowed respondents to choose ‘other’, in addition to the listed selection, and there was opportunity for further information to be provided. A small number (3%) of key issues selected by respondents were in the category ‘other’. On analysis, these fall into the following areas:

- Sectarianism/paramilitary/hate crime
- Fly tipping
- Rural crime
- Firearms vetting/licence
- Road safety
- Neighbourhood and community
- Online abuse
- Fear of crime
- PSNI availability, information and training
- Other/non defined

INVOLVEMENT IN LOCAL ISSUES

Respondents were asked how involved they were in seeking solutions to local issues. Overall, the majority (61%) were either involved or very involved with PSNI in seeking solutions to local issues. Five respondents did not answer this question. The survey was open to respondents regardless of whether they were involved in seeking solutions to local issues in partnership with any organisation or neighbourhood policing.

RESOLUTION OF ISSUES

From the list provided, respondents were asked what the status of the issue was at the time of the survey. Around six in ten respondents felt the issue was either no better than before (32%) or recurring (27%). Almost three in ten (28%) respondents felt the issue had either resolved, was prevented or had improved. One in ten (13%) respondents did not know or did not answer this question.

Respondents to the survey were given the opportunity to provide further information and comments on the current status of the issues. A selection of these comments are shown in Appendix 1.

MUTUALLY SATISFACTORY SOLUTION TO LOCAL ISSUES

Respondents were asked to think about their experience of working with the PSNI to resolve these issues and whether a mutually satisfactory solution had been reached.

Overall, just over half (52%) thought there had been a mutually satisfactory solution to local issues (strongly agree, agree or slightly agree). Those who slightly disagreed or disagreed totalled 43%.

KEY ISSUES BY RESPONDENT GROUP

CHARITABLE ORGANISATIONS

Thirteen charitable organisations responded to the survey and from these responses, the issues of concern in the local area covered all categories listed. Anti-social behaviour, hate crime and drugs were the three main issues they faced.

Respondents could select more than one option to this question.

APPENDIX 1 – ADDITIONAL COMMENTS

Community Policing Survey 2023 – selected comments on key issues

- Drug dealers are well known and continue to operate without fear of being caught. ASB seems to draw undue attention by police as opposed to focusing on more significant issues. Police are out of touch with young people.
- There needs to be better interfacing with young people from an early age. Events run for young people in conjunction with PSNI, Social Services, youth Justice etc.
- Repeated, long-term issues with anti-social behaviour and vandalism on tow-path. However, very positive response from policing team and this seems to be resolved. However, would welcome continued presence
- Anti-Social Behaviour & Vandalism. Very difficult situation at Halloween.
- More visible policing needed, more community police in our areas is vital!
- Yes -I'm attempting with help of local Police to set up a neighborhood watch & Cold Callers Zone in my housing estate.
- Lack of confidence and trust with police due to their actions and failure to investigate or take seriously any complaint from someone from a minority ethnic background.
- The police have been very responsive and helpful regarding the issues above. However, we recognise that the structural systems relating to addiction, housing and mental health are severely lacking.
- Low-level crime is simply ignored these days. Police manpower is so short, and they appear demotivated with no support from senior officers and society in general. This all-round ambivalence fosters a disrespectful attitude to law and order.

Community Policing Survey 2023 – selected comments on the current status of issues

- Now we know who to contact with these issues and they respond really well.
- When agencies work together actions appear to impact more positively; Community police within the areas are challenged with restricted resources. Evidently the cuts in funding will negatively increase the concerns identified as all community groups struggle to meet priorities.
- I feel that the closure and part time opening hours of Police stations play a major role in dealing with different issues within the community.
- Reduced Community Policing presence has impacted on crime trends.
- Nothing is being followed up as far as I know.
- We encourage children to speak out and report, we tell them that they will be supported, but they have been blamed, humiliated and threatened by officers.
- Matters are ongoing in the early stages of implementation to reduce fear of crime.
- Police don't do anything about the issues.
- These things can go away and suddenly pop up again people come and go children go through stages as well.
- The lack of prevention, or intervention with perpetrators at the right time, allows the problem to perpetuate. Failure to challenge those responsible at the height of concern, and at the point when citizens feel most vulnerable only serves to intensify the sense of insecurity. It's a major contributor to the lack of confidence in policing.
- Received 'no parking' signs from community police which were very helpful.
- The issues are still happening.

Community Policing Survey 2023 – selected comments on what worked well and what could be improved

- They are working well.
- Community policing has worked very well.
- Communication.
- Not enough police. Hindered by lack of budget and recruitment.
- Attitude and civility of police officers needs to improve. Biased against unionist/loyalist community.
- The partnership approach has worked well, positive and performing relationships among community and statutory agencies continue to be developed. Adherence to commitments could be improved along with visibility and awareness of everyone's role.
- Follow ups could be improved.
- None, I cannot commend our Community Team highly enough for their support, advice and when required, supportive action.
- None. They are corrupt and incompetent. So far. One lives in hope of course.
- Time scales, now that the resources have decreased that almost immediate response is lost, which impacts on all of our working relationship.
- Better communication and engagement.
- Improved information re outcome.
- More visual police presence in rural areas.
- More PSNI on the street. Maybe the same workers because every time you see police it's someone different.
- Community engagement and joint delivery in services with other stats agencies.
- Most important thing is the relationship between local NPT officers and their community. Trust and confidence so important. The PCSP Community Safety wardens also do a highly professional job in building bridges with the community and reassuring victims of crime and those fearing crime.
- The PSNI have been wonderful and very proactive. We just need more joint working with other organisations instead of always in silos.

- I don't think anything has worked well because I'm not sure if anything has been done.
- Reporting to 101 has much improved.
- Local officers very good. Ringing 101 is an awful system, thankfully my local officers have provided their mobile numbers and are very good at keeping in contact with me.
- The neighbourhood team do interact well with our young people and try to attend our community meetings.
